Dear Mr. Espinosa,

Thank you for your guidance concerning the finer points of what may or may not be construed as political advertising that come into play for someone like me who began co-hosting a local radio show long before considering running for office. Per your advice, a disclosure statement has been incorporated into the radio show website. As a strong believer in transparency, I've also taken your suggestion and used the C/OH Schedule G form to amend a prior campaign report to indicate a political expenditure from my personal funds for the radio show.

As we discussed, I began co-hosting the Wade & Carter Show in 2016, and intend to continue it regardless of the outcome of this mayoral election. From time to time, we mention or briefly discuss the election for Mayor of Victoria or our campaign in a news-based way on the radio show. This round of city elections is certainly newsworthy in that it will impact the direction of Victoria for years to come, and we do not incur any additional costs to discuss this.

Out of an abundance of caution and in the interest of transparency, I am reporting a percentage of the cost of our radio show air time as a political expenditure, which given what we pay monthly to keep the show on air covers far more airtime than we give to discussing this mayoral election. I have filed the affidavit form you provided, as well as pertinent pages for the report being amended (Cover Sheet Page 2 showing the additional expenditure amount to the report totals, Cover Sheet Page 3, and also Schedule G to reflect the expenditure to the radio station).

While as you noted it is arguable whether costs for the local radio show I co-host are expenditures that are made "in connection with" our campaign for Mayor, I agree that the abundantly cautious approach is to report this as a campaign expense. I want to thank you again for your time and attention to detail in this, and for all you do to help ensure fair elections in our great state.

Best Regards,

Brent Carter
